

The Rock Road

When they looked up, they saw that the stone, which was very large, had already been rolled back (Mark 16:4)

Dear St. Peter's Family,

Following the Maundy Thursday service, a woman who has spent her entire life in our church said to me, "I have never noticed the altar looking like it did tonight. With everything gone, it looked like a tomb."

Every year, on the Thursday in Holy Week, we celebrate the Eucharist for the last time in the season of Lent, and we then remove all the vessels, hangings, worship books, candles, the consecrated elements, and everything else that feeds our deepest spiritual hunger. That night, when all had been stripped away and all the living sacrifices had been taken out of the sanctuary, our limestone slab of an altar and the large rough rock on which it rests looked like a tomb, no doubt.

Three days later, on Easter Day, the sanctuary had a completely different look and feel to it. That morning, the children in our parish had flowered the cross inside the sanctuary, and so at the appointed time for their sermon, I invited the children to come forward and peer into the sanctuary; they could see the flowered cross, the Easter lilies, and the living bodies dressed in white robes. Coupled with the Easter story from the gospel of Mark, we could still see the large stone in our sanctuary, but in that spiritual territory, the stone had been rolled away, and we discovered life.

In the final verses of Mark's gospel, the stone clearly assumes great significance in the story; it represents something to everybody involved and invested in the outcome of this story. In an Easter Day sermon, the Rev. Dr. Sam Wells brought this to light for me in just how strong of a symbol the stone can be in the story. For the women, the stone was that inanimate, but seemingly immovable object that kept them in the past; the stone only represented the memory of the dream that had died. For the Roman and Judean authorities, the stone was the immovable object that seemed to demonstrate their power and control in that present moment. For those authorities, the stone seemed to suggest that things were going to stay the same.

And yet, because the stone had been rolled away, we can be sure that everything about the past, present, and future has changed. In his sermon, Sam Wells says, "For Jesus, the stone represented the future. It was the symbol that nothing can separate the Father from him or him from us."

We have our own stones, and we might ask the same question as the women: who will roll away this stone? It is that large and seemingly immovable object between us and God. Who will roll away this stone? And then, on Easter Day, with the women, we discover the Truth; the stone has been rolled away and nothing will separate us from the love of God in Christ Jesus our Lord. We enter that space where we come to know the future with Christ raised from the dead.

On Easter Day at St. Peter's, I watched the children enter the sanctuary and flower the cross. They entered that space so freely; it was not unlike the first Easter when the women so freely entered the tomb to find a young man, dressed in a white robe. In my white vestments, surrounded by lilies and children, I sat on the small wooden step-stool inside the sanctuary, told the story, and shared in the good news of Easter. Alleluia. Christ is risen. The Lord is risen indeed. Alleluia.

A Message from Fr Mike

Dear Friends,

Sunday, April 8, I preached on the appearance of the Risen Lord Jesus to ("Doubting") Thomas...John 20:19-31. These are some further thoughts I'm pondering this Eastertide as it relates to that encounter. They're a bit of a mash-up: my own musings as well as of others to whom credit is mostly due.

Jesus said: "Thomas, because you have seen me, you have believed. Blessed are those who have not seen and yet have believed." To put the matter in a contemporary context, it rings as a rebuke to modern willful disbelief and an encouragement to faith and firm belief, the kind of trust in God that saves.

Ever since Nietzsche predicted it and the 1960s (and afterwards) practically confirmed the Death of God in

Ever since Nietzsche predicted it and the 1960s (and afterwards) practically confirmed the Death of God in human society, the momentum of Western history has turned decidedly more demanding, more and more militantly secularized, and, in some quarters, even outright fashionably atheistic. It has taken a cultural sinking of Titanic proportions.

An essay by the eminent Orthodox churchman Fr. Alexander Schmemmann describes secularism as the "great heresy of our time." He isn't referring to the separation of Church and State, or a non-Christian or atheist world-view. His view (and I concur) is this: "Secularism emphatically negates the sacramentality of man and world. The secularist views the world as containing within itself its meaning and the principle of knowledge and action." (Try pondering that some night when you can't fall asleep!).

One British editorial confirmed that "in recent years, a small but vocal secularist lobby has sought to represent Christianity as somehow undesirable, even threatening, and to exclude it from the public square." I repeat my thesis: There's something disturbingly willful about this drive to commit spiritual amnesia, to uproot everything from our Judeo-Christian ethic and inheritance, in what sometimes can seem an effort simply to make everything the reverse of what it has always been. Willful unbelief and societal regression is NOT a blueprint for either progress or civilized culture.

However, Christ is greater than unbelief, as the Thomas encounter proves. And some think the tide may be turning. There's a sense that years of the precious Dawkins "debates" and the like are coming to an end. The militant secularists are confronting the inevitable limitations of their God-less creed: How does one energize a crusade around a vacuum?

'There is nothing' and 'I will not believe' isn't a message to which people in our stressful, increasingly fragmented society will warm. It is cold comfort to bring to an opioid addict or a mother trying to survive cancer long enough to see her children grow up a little longer or a couple whose marriage seems in collapse or someone whose career has tanked, etc.

Yet to all those forums of human misery the Christian Church and Faith has a more hopeful, consoling, life-giving message to offer: That of the Great Surprise--the empty tomb; the Risen Christ; the joy that now is and is to come.

"Thomas, do not doubt but believe."..."Blessed are those who have not seen and yet have come to believe."

O Lord, I believe. Help my unbelief! And thanks be to God for such a faithful community as St. Peter's to help us all!

Christ is Risen!

Special women in our lives ...

Dear Friends of St. Peter's School,

We know you are familiar with the high quality of education our school provides young children throughout Kerrville. Our needs are many: meeting scholarship demands, purchasing current educational materials, controlling tuition costs and recruiting the highest quality teaching staff.

In order to maintain our high standards, we are asking for your financial assistance in our Twenty First Annual Mother's Day Appeal. Below is a donation card. Please fill in the names of special mothers and grandmothers and return your card. The children will honor these special women in their prayers at our Annual Mother's Day Chapel on Wednesday, May 9th.

Thank you for your continued support of St. Peter's School and its children.

Church Periodical Club Sunday, May 6th Ingathering

The Church Periodical Club—dedicated to the Ministry of the Printed Word throughout the world—was founded in 1888 by Mary Ann Drake Fargo, wife of a member of the Wells, Fargo Express firm. Mary Ann and her friends in the Church of the Holy Communion, New York, “sent bundles of church periodicals, prayer books, and Bibles via the Wells Fargo Stage Coach Line to clergy and laity, missionaries and Indians in the Dakotas, and the ‘far west’” (<http://www.churchperiodical.com/history-organization.html>).

The CPC, an affiliated and growing mission organization of the Episcopal Church, continues to serve by supplying reading, study, reference, teaching, and devotional materials free to those who cannot otherwise obtain them. Wherever the Episcopal Church is at work—at home or abroad, in inner city or seminary or distant mission outpost—CPC books, periodicals, weekly church bulletins, and other reading materials are there as well.

The work of the Church Periodical Club is financed by the contributions of individuals and parishes. Supporting CPC is one of the most effective ways of carrying out Christ’s command: “Go, ye, therefore, and teach all nations...” (Matthew 28:19 KJV)

On May 6, a special collection will be taken up at all three services during the offertory for the use by the Church Periodical Club’s National Books Fund Program. Last year’s contribution of $668.05 by our parish helped fund $11, 591 for 14 domestic parishes and programs (including Al-Anon literature for Camp Capers!), as well as over $52,000 for four African parishes and dozens of Tanzanian seminary (or other Christian training center) students.

Find an envelope in your service bulletin. For more information on the CPC’s National Books Fund visit <http://www.churchperiodical.com/national-books-fund-history.html>.

St. Jerome's Jots

The St. Jerome Library Guild will meet on Wednesday May 2, at 2:00 PM in the church library. Attendees are asked to bring book they would recommend and be prepared to discuss it for about 5 minutes.

Hope to see you there!

UNITED THANK OFFERING

UNITED THANK OFFERING (UTO) SPRING IN-GATHERING MAY 20, 2018

Psalms 69:30 (NRSV)

I will praise the name of God with a song; I will magnify Him with thanksgiving.

Give thanks to God for your Blessings that happen every day!

Make an Offering for each of these Blessings!

Every Penny, Nickel, Dime, Quarter, and Dollar Offered in THANKS through United Thank Offering is given to God's mission in the world.

Every Coin and Bill transforms lives in the United States and around the world.

Your Blessings become Blessings for others.

You may have wondered how your UTO Offering benefits others. One of the many Missions is The Navajo-land that extends into the states of Utah, Arizona and New Mexico. In Utah it will be used to purchase a mobile home that will be The Rectory for the Vicar and his Family on the church site. To help the Navajo become self-sufficient by aiding them in a model agricultural development. In New Mexico to develop an education program where Hozho (which means "Nature, Life and Society are in Harmony") can be waged against alcoholism. In Arizona to create a sustainable farming program along with a pilot program that will provide a unique opportunity to support restoration of traditional Navajo foods, food knowledge, self-sufficient food systems, and healthy habits. PRAY WITH THANKSGIVING AND GIVE SO THESE MISSIONS WILL BE BLESSED TOO!

April Vestry Highlights

The Vestry met on Monday, April 16, 2018 at 5:30pm. Fr. Bert opened the meeting in prayer, and at the beginning of the meeting, the Vestry approved the minutes from the March 19 meeting.

Catherine Schulte delivered the Financial Report and followed up to the previously emailed report from Chrisie Jennings. Catherine Schulte gave the financial report stating that Income is at 28%. which is an increase. After balancing the bank statement there was noted a double payment to the copier lease which will be applied to next months' payment. This was a change of $956.52. Catherine reported that St. Peter's was recently informed that the parish will be the recipient of a generous bequest; she report more details to the Finance Commission and Vestry as those details are delivered to her. The Vestry approved the Financial Report as presented.

Dee Elliott, the School Board/Vestry liaison, reported on the ministry of the school. Dee had emailed the School Board Minutes to all Vestry members. Dee presented two new School Board Members for election by the Vestry: Scott Herman and Polly Horany. The Vestry confirmed the election of Scott Herman and Polly Horany to the School Board. The newly elected School Board members were subsequently contacted by Bert, Janet Boutin, or Mark Hauffler about their positions on the School Board.

Catherine Kern reported from the Safe Campus Committee. She and co-chair, Eric Maloney, are working to schedule an assessment of the campus with Officer Juan Trevizo. The assessment will coincide with the next meeting of the committee. Lee Underwood will be looking into a camera system for the campus.

Lou Ann Maxwell reported on behalf of the ECW. Lou Ann Maxwell reported that the blinds have been installed in Tucker Hall, and that there are cords on the blinds, but they were installed with a safety mechanism securing the cord to the bottom frame for safety. ECW will be holding a board meeting on April 26th, and the General Meeting on May 3rd. ECW has sponsored a table at the Christian Women's Job Corp luncheon on Thursday, April 26th.

Brooksie Bledsoe reported on behalf of the Newcomers Ministry. She and others are working on scheduling a date for a Newcomers gathering in May and acquiring the list of Newcomers in the parish.

Under the report from the Finance Commission, Jim Hayes reported that he has made contact with Dan Butt, Executive Director of the Episcopal Church Foundation in the Diocese of West Texas. Jim has made contact with Dan Butt as a resource to the Finance Commission and Vestry. The Finance Commission will meet with Dan Butt to consider how the parish could grow and utilize the parish's endowments to benefit the mission and ministry of the parish in the long-term.

Mickey Horany reported on behalf of the Stewardship Commission. Mickey announced the new members of this commission: Scott Herman, Richard Eastland, Hiram Wilson, and Amy Richards. They will meet with Father Bert to develop goals and objectives for the Commission. Mickey reminded the vestry of the Abide In Me Conference on June 9th at TMI. The theme for this year's conference is Living Stewardship. Mickey also reported that Marjorie George, the Editor of (DWTX) Reflections Magazine and Reflections Online, approached Father Bert about our Church presenting our Narrative Budget in a Workshop at the Abide in Me Conference entitled "Creating and Using a Narrative Budget". Mickey and Dave Weekly will work with Father Bert on this project and presentation to be given at the conference.

Lee Underwood, Junior Warden, reported to the Vestry. Lee is looking into what needs to be done with the potential renewal of a contract for termite inspection. Also, in terms of the property report, Lee, Stephen, and Jim Hayes were able to report that progress is being made with an replacement fountain in the courtyard.

Rich Schneider, Senior Warden, reported to the vestry. Rich followed up to the email that had been sent to the Vestry in regards to the City's Open House for the Kerrville 2050 plan. The Open House is for the purpose of learning more about the current drafts of the Land Use Plan and the Transportation Thoroughfare Plan. He encouraged vestry members to attend the Open House.

Fr. Bert Baetz reported to the vestry. Fr. Bert first expressed his appreciation for the office staff and volunteers doing extra work with the vacancy of the parish administrator position. He shared that he continues to receive a steady flow of interested candidates even as the job requires a specific skill-set, and he looks for a right fit for our parish. Fr. Bert reported on the Christian Formation Ministry Assessment. The coaches,

Jamie Martin-Currie and Lisa Puccio, were very impressed by the great participation from the parish. The coaches saw a good response from the survey and tremendous participation with the five listening groups. The St. Peter's Christian Formation Commission is the group that will respond to any ideas and initiatives presented by the coaches. The Christian Formation Commission includes Dee Elliott, Peyton Ives, Susan Parker, Britt Eastland, and Isaac Zaffke. Fr. Bert reported that the first next step is to expand the Commission to twelve members and then have that Commission develop the plan moving forward.

There was no New Business, and there was no Old Business.

The Rector and Vestry closed with the Lord's Prayer and the meeting adjourned.

The next meeting will be Monday, May 21 at 5:30pm in the Multi-purpose Room of Tucker Hall. As always, anyone in the parish is welcome to attend. If you wish to be on the agenda and speak, however, please notify the Rector no later than the previous Tuesday, May 15, when he writes the Agenda and then emails the Agenda to the Vestry.

Wednesdays

WEDNESDAY NIGHT SUPPERS & CLASSES Continue through May 23 with supper at 5:45 pm and class at 6:30 pm.

On Wednesday nights, Julianne Hunnicutt, member of St. Peter's, will be offering a class in Tucker Hall at 6:30 pm. Julianne's class will be "An Introduction to the Enneagram". Julianne has been a student of the Enneagram for many years and is an apprentice of Enneagram Master Teacher and author, Suzanne Stabile.

The class description is as follows:

Come learn about this ancient spiritual wisdom tool in order to gain understanding of our motivations, behavior and experiences!

The Enneagram represents 9 distinct strategies for relating to ourselves, others and the world. Each number, or Enneatype, has a different pattern of thinking, feeling and acting that comes out of a deeper inner motivation and/or worldview. The Enneagram is a powerful tool to discover our unique personality and to gain compassion for self and others.

E.C.W. Charitable Giving – Spotlight

The ECW has been a charitable donor to The Christian Women's Job Corp in Kerr County for some time. The program started in 2004 and to date 321 women have graduated through the Job Corp and hold an 85% employment rate. Of these 321 women 257 have accepted Christ or rededicated their lives to Him. The Christian Women's Job Corp is changing families and future generations of families in our community. It is our privilege to be a donor to this worthwhile program. This donation is made possible through the efforts of the women of St. Peter's and specifically the Cottage Shop Volunteers.
